Agreement on the following points dealing with construction plans was reached at a meeting of the Berlin Regional Railroad Headquarters attended by 700 railroad functionaries:

1. Withdrawal of all reserve locomotives used temporarily during the fall months by 11 December 1950. (1)
2. Completion of the following construction projects by 21 December 1950:
 - a. Construction of a passing siding between Milnersdorf and Ahrens-dorf (2)
 - b. Construction of the passing siding near Boornicke on the Naun-
Kremmen line (3)
 - c. Completion of the curve near Justerbog (4)
 - d. Completion of construction stages III and IV on the second track of the Gruenau-Koenigswusterhausen line (5)
 - e. Completion of the construction work at the Seddin railroad station (6)
 - f. Completion of the Rathenow-Leewenberg line section (7)
 - g. Completion of the railroad overpass across August Bebelstrasse in Frankfurt/Oder (8)
 - h. Completion of the bridge near Reitwein. (9)

Comments.

- (1) The critical situation in September and October 1950 appears to have necessitated the use of locomotives which form part of the so-called winter reserve. One individual case in which the employment of such reserve locomotives was observed was previously reported. [redacted] paragraph 1a to c.

- (2) Both railroad stations are on the Mberswalde-Templin line, which is of importance as a feeder-line to the Templin maneuver area.
- (3) This line is of importance as a western by-pass around Berlin.
- (4) [REDACTED]
- (5) It is believed that the project concerns itself with the extension of the Berlin inter-urban railroad system as far as Koenigswusterhausen. At present this system operates only as far as Gruenau.
- (6) It is believed that this project concerns the construction of new trackage at the important Seddin marshaling yard, which is on the Berlin-Belzig-Malle and Magdeburg line.
- (7) This project has been frequently reported. [REDACTED]
